

October is here, and on the allotment we have been getting our vegetable beds ready for some winter crops. Here are some beds that the pupils have been hard at work on.

On the left are beds that are being dug over in preparation for planting out winter crops. On the right, Emerald Class have planted out their bed with some Rainbow chard, Spinach and winter lettuce.

Secondary Year 7 worked on clearing a bed for strawberries.

Ready for planting out!

The new bed planted up with Cambridge favourite strawberry plants

And finally an update on plants and bulbs we bought with some of the money from the plant sale at the end of the summer term. We have chosen some late flowering perennial plants to extend the flowering season. This will help our pollinators find food before winter sets in.

We also bought some daffodil bulbs. The Garden Club members are planning to plant them in tins saved from the school kitchen (recycling in action). Look out for them at the Allotment Gate Shop, for sale in the near future!

Happy gardening everyone, see you next month!
